BRAVERY OF TWO WOMEN. - A few days ago the wife of one of the Shore Line railroad conductors, whose modesty forbids her name being given to the public, was visiting some friends in Worchester, Massachusetts, and during her stay at the friend's house met with an adventure which, for daring and courage on her part, would put to blush many of the sterner sex in a similar emergency. The fact that her lady friend showed equal courage in the emergency, perhaps in a measure accounts for the successful termination of the story we are about to relate. The facts as related to us, regarding the truthfulness of which there is not the least shadow of a doubt, are these :

On a pleasant afternoon the lady friend of our heroine invited her guest to take a ride in the suburbs of the pleasant city of Worchester and for that purpose ordered the necessary turnout for the occasion to be prepared. The two ladies were soon on their way, and after a pleasant drive of an hour or two turned toward home, stopping on the way at the house of a friend to take tea. After a very pleasant call they again started for home, which they reached between 9 and 10 o'clock in the evening. On entering the house, the visitor immediately retired to her room, on the second floor, to remove her hat and shawl. While doing this she heard her friend down stairs commanding some one to leave the house, and she immediately repaired to the scene of disturbance to ascertain the cause.

On arriving there she found her friend confronting a big, burly fellow in his stocking feet, and trying to get him out into the street, and he declaring he would not go unless he was given a pair of boots. The husband of the lady of the house being absent, and no man being within call, things began to assume a serious aspect .-Our heroine very calmly told the intruder that he must and should leave the house at once, but if he wanted a pair of boots she would get them for him, and hastily leaving the room she ran up stairs with the evident intention of carrying her promise into effect. She soon returned, but in place of the boots she held in her hand a revolver, which she quickly presented to the scoundrel's head, and, with the threat that if he did not leave his life should then and there be taken, she calmly awaited the result. The miscreant, seeing he was in a bad predicament, began to beg for his life, which was promised him if he would at once leave the premises, which he did without waiting for boots or anything else. Our heroine then procured a light and proceeded to recon-

She first went to the barn and released the dog; then returning to the house she raised the window and rang a large dinner bell, which soon called a neighbor to the scene, who, on being informed of the facts, made a thorough search of the premises, but without finding that anything had been stolen. From all the circumstances connected with the case, it is very evident that the fellow knew of the absence of the husband, and supposing that as he had nothing but timid females to deal with, he could have everything his own way. The fact, too, that the house was situated quite a distance from any other, no doubt suggested itself as a suitable place for the scoundrel's burglarious operations, as an alarm would not likely be heard in the night by the neighbors. The courage displayed by these two females, however, so completely demoralized his hopes that he was glad to escape with his life. If the world possessed more heroic women of this character burglaries would be less frequent, and the safety of the public against such depredations would be much more secure. - New Haven Palladium.

EMBARRASSING SITUATION.—Max Adeler says: That little affair of Needham's that some of the papers have been telling about was certainly unpleasant-at least to Needham .-Needham owned a deep-mouthed watch-dog which always bayed him a welcome home, and snatched mouthfuls of chops out of the legs of strangers. Needham took that faithful animal along with him one day to guard his clothes while he went in swimming. Needham bathed for an hour, and meanwhile the dog went to sleep on Needham's garments. When Needham came out the dog did not recognize him in his nude condition, and refused to let him come near his garments. Every time that Needham would grab for a suspender or a sock the dog would bite a mouthful out of his arm or leg, and whenever Needham would make a dive for a boot or undershirt that animal would seize him by the calf and shake him. So Needham stood there in the sun pretty nearly roasted, and he spent the afternoon dodging in and out of the water to avoid the Doreas societies and female students at the boarding school and the factory girls coming down the road .-At last when the dog went to sleep Needham crept up behind him, caught him suddenly by the tail and flung him across the stream. Be-fore the dog could swim back Needham got most of his clothes upon his bleeding body and limbs, and the dog came sidling up to him looking as if he expected to be rewarded for his extraordinary vigilance. And yet they say that the dog is man's best friend.

A REMAKABLE EAR.—The Hartford Post says that one of the most remarkable illustrations of the power which a telegraphic operator acquires to distinguish individuals by their touch upon the instrument, has just been afforded by Mr. Hemstead, one of the operators in the Western Union Telegraph Company's office in this city. About a fortnight ago Mike W. Sherman, formerly an expert and well known telegraph operator, escaped from the Middleton Insane Asylun, where he has been confined, and though thorough search has been made for him, he successfully eluded the people who were on his track until Monday night. While Hemstead was at work in the office in Hartford that night he suddenly recognized among the clatter of a score of messages passing over the wire, a sound which he at once declared was the touch of the missing Mike. It proved to be a message from Wallingford, and an investigation showed that Mr. Hemstead was quite right in ascribing it to the insane man, who was found there the next day, he having dropped into the office in the former place on Monday night and taken a hand at his old business.

Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored. This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgencies. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. DR. JOHNSTON. Member of the Royal College of Surgery of London, Graduate of one of the most eminen Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has bee tals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.
These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symtoms of Consump-MENTALLY.—The fearful effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced. Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

YOUNG MEN Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately. What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyment of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in pernicious habits. Such persons must, before comtemplat-

ing. MARRIAGE Reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mlnd becomes shadowed with despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own. DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE. When the misguided and imprudent votary o pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds o this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery de ters him from applying to those who, from edu cation and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease be-comes a horrid object of commisseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns."

It is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferements after month taking their noxious or ferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being re stored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and Happiness in despair leaves him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.
